Historical Portfolio Backtester

This report was automatically generated by the Historical Portfolio Backtester.

Portfolio Information

Portfolio: AAPL, NVDA, MSFT, GOOG

Benchmark: SPY

Initial Investment: $10,000.00

Period: 2010-01-01 to 2020-01-01

Performance Summary

Metric	Equal Weight	Inverse Variance	SPY
Final Value	$97,239.66	$82,747.72	$34,687.50
Total Return	872.40%	727.48%	246.87%
Annual Return	25.54%	23.53%	13.25%
Volatility	21.78%	20.11%	14.69%
Sharpe Ratio	1.08	1.07	0.77
Max Drawdown	-33.48%	-27.91%	-19.35%
Beta	1.17	1.11	1.00

Portfolio Performance Chart

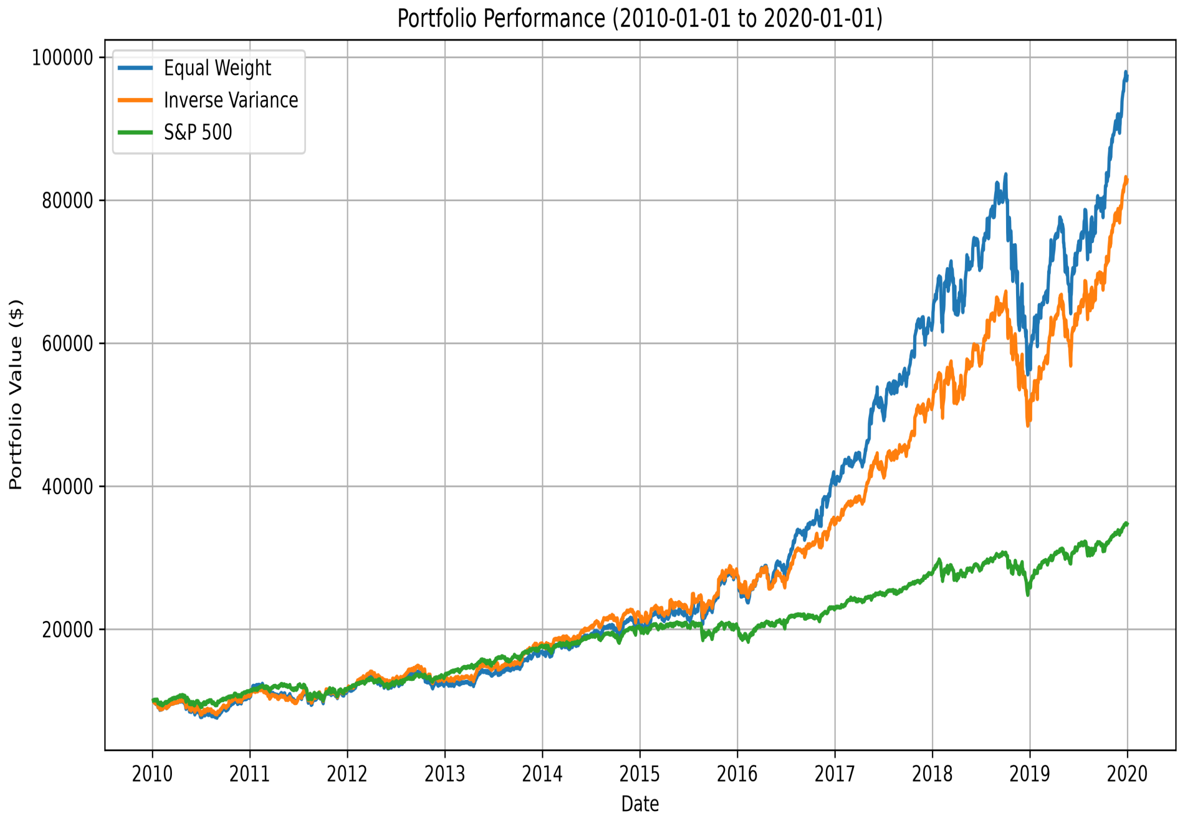

Figure 1. Historical performance comparison between the Equal Weight Portfolio, Inverse Variance Portfolio, and the selected benchmark.

Inverse Variance Portfolio Weights

Ticker	Weight (%)
AAPL	26.34%
NVDA	29.21%
MSFT	33.83%
GOOG	10.62%

Conclusion

The Equal Weight portfolio achieved a final value of $97,239.66, while the Inverse Variance portfolio finished with $82,747.72.

Compared with the selected benchmark (SPY), both portfolio strategies demonstrated different risk-return characteristics over the investment period.

The Equal Weight portfolio produced an annualized return of 25.54%, while the Inverse Variance portfolio produced 23.53%.

The Inverse Variance strategy reduced portfolio volatility to 20.11%, demonstrating how alternative weighting methods can help balance investment risk while maintaining competitive long-term returns.